About Norton Pond

As a gateway to the Greenway, Norton Pond links walkers to the Grange and Standalone Farm as well as Arlesey and Hitchin.

Famous for its newts, Norton Pond has been rejuvenated and is now a popular watering hole for many different bird species. With patience, a whole host of wildlife can be seen here including Dragonflies, Damselflies, Water Beetles, Three-Spined Sticklebacks, Common Frog, Common Toad, Water Boatman, Pond Snails, Pond Skaters and crustaceans.

Norton Pond is situated next to the entrance to Croft Lane near Norton village.

About The Greenway

At the heart of the Greenway is an 13.6 mile (21.8 km) route around the Garden City for walkers and in parts wheelchair users, cyclists and horses. Along the way, there will be several things to do and places to visit. Each will be an attraction in its own right, providing information on wildlife, flora and fauna, and an excellent starting place to join the circular walk.

The Garden City Greenway is the single largest investment of Letchworth Garden City Heritage Foundation in celebration of Letchworth Garden City's Centenary in 2003.

All drawings shown are for illustrative purposes only and are intended as a guide to the development of the Greenway project as at October 2002. This map and route is subject to change.
